
Dialectics of institutional and spontaneous matters in social systems

© A.N. Nesterenko

Bauman Moscow State Technical University, Moscow, 105005, Russia

The problem of correlating between the state regulation of social interaction and spontaneous self-regulation based on natural mechanisms within market economy model is considered. The associated contradiction between private and common social interests constituting the essence of modern political relations is investigated.

Keywords: social interaction, state, society, market regulation, self-regulation, economic crisis.

Nesterenko A.N., Ph.D., Assistant Lecturer of the Department of Philosophy at Bauman Moscow State Technical University. e-mail: rockwool@list.ru

REFERENCES

- [1] Bodriiyar Zh. Obshchestvo potrebleniya. Ego mify i struktury [Consumer society. Its myths and structures]. Moscow, Kul'turnaya revolyutsiya, Respublika Publ., 2006.
 - [2] Kislitsyn D. Voprosy ekonomiki — Economic issues, 2013, no. 6.
 - [3] Nozick R. Anarchy, State, and Utopia. (Russ.ed.: B. Pinsker, Yu. Kuznetsov, A. Kuryaev, eds. Anarkhiya, gosudarstvo i utopia. Moscow, IRISEN, 2008, 424 p.).
 - [4] Rormozer G. Krizis liberalizma [Crisis of liberalism]. Moscow, 1996.
 - [5] Khaiek F.A. fon. Doroga k rabstvu [The Road to Slavery]. Moscow, Ekonomika Publ., 1992.
 - [6] Khaiek F.A. fon. Individualizm i ekonomicheskiy poryadok [Individualism and Economic Order]. Moscow, Izograf Publ., 2000.
 - [7] Jasay Anthony, de. The State. Liberty Fund, Indianapolis, 1998. (Russ.ed.: G. Pokatovich, Yu. Kuznetsov, eds. Gosudarstvo. Moscow, IRISEN Publ., 2008, 410 p.).
-