The article considers Jewish public associations in Moscow in the 1920s: "Poaley-Tsion", Bund, Jewish section of RCP(b), "Moscow Committee of the Society for Relief Jews". The reasons of their emergence and the termination of activity are analyzed. The policy of the CPSU (B) is shown with regard to public organizations in general and to ethnic organizations in particular.

Keywords: Moscow Jewish community, Jewish Communist Party "Poaley-Tsion", Bund party, Jewish section of RCP(b), national policy
